

As a business traveler XFM is invaluable. When you travel to a different city you can flounder around stations for an hour trying to find local info. With XFM its there NOW. Please let the free market work. The founding fathers would be aghast at the things this government thinks are important to the American public. XFM is a prime example of a great idea that works. The established broadcasters are now threatened and are trying to stop what made this country great. Let this great new company continue to provide a service which helps many people day in and day out.

Thank You

Jim
